

PLEASE COME JOIN US FOR A SPECIAL SCREENING OF
REDLIGHT

Followed by a Q&A with Co-Founder & President of Nomi Network, Diana Mao and Filmmaker & President of RedLight Children, Guy Jacobson

Tuesday, March 8 2011

NYU Wagner Graduate School of Public Service

The Puck Building's Rudin Family Forum, 295 Lafayette Street, 2nd Floor

3:00 PM to 6:00 PM

ABOUT "REDLIGHT" THE MOVIE: UNICEF Goodwill Ambassador Lucy Liu produced and narrated this feature documentary about child sexual exploitation. Filmed over a four-year period, Redlight focuses on the victims' stories and on two advocates for change: grassroots activist Somaly Mam and politician Mu Sochua. To view the trailer, please visit www.redlightthemovie.com.

ABOUT DIANA MAO & NOMI NETWORK: Diana Mao is the Co-Founder and President of Nomi Network. Nomi Network, a non-profit organization bridging the private, public and non-profit sectors through enterprise and education to end human trafficking. The Nomi Network primarily focuses on empowering women at risk for sex trafficking by increasing their financial independence by providing hands-on training through a one-on-one mentorship program with experienced product developers in the fashion industry. Through these training sessions, women are exposed to new product development and design techniques which they can utilize to create products that are sold in the global marketplace. 100% of the profit is reinvested back into their training and education. For more information, please visit <http://www.nominetwork.org>.

ABOUT GUY JACOBSON & REDLIGHT CHILDREN: Guy Jacobson is a filmmaker and global activist. A former New York attorney and investment banker, he now serves as president of Priority Films. In 2004, he founded RedLight Children, a global human rights organization aiming to end the demand for child slavery and exploitation. Priority Films has produced the K11 Project: the most comprehensive film project about child trafficking and child prostitution to date. To learn more about RedLight Children and the K11 Project, please visit www.redlightchildren.org.

Refreshments and Food will be Served. Free Admission but RSVP required.
Please RSVP go to: <http://wagner.nyu.edu/events/wwc-03-08-2011>

SPONSORED BY:

Wagner's Women's Caucus (WWC), Asian Pacific American Student Alliance (APASA), Students for Criminal Justice Reform (SCJR), The Wagner International Students Society (WISS), Humanus Group, Wagner Policy Alliance (WPA), the International Public Service Association (IPSA), The Nomi Network, and RedLight Children