Dear Jennifer,

It's a new year and 2011 has already proven to be a very exciting time for us at RedLight Children with new partnerships, initiatives, and programs!

We are proud to announce the launch of our new website, as it is representative of our passion in fighting child sex trafficking and exploitation, and provides more innovative ways to get involved to create lasting change. I hope you'll check out our website and discover new ways to get involved. View website.

We would also like to thank everyone for your support at our recent fundraising event in December. We had a fantastic night of poker, prizes and games, while directly benefiting RedLight Children. Thank you for helping us raise nearly $30,000 in much needed funds!

Bringing awareness and dialogue to the global issue of child slavery and exploitation is fundamental in fighting it. I want to encourage you to check out our website and locate movie screenings near you. Through the powerful utilization of film and mass media, you can help generate extensive exposure to this issue. If there is not a screening being held near you, click here to find out how you can set up a film screening in your community.

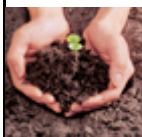

Warmest,

Guy Jacobson

U.S. should stop criminalizing sex trafficking victims

Here in the United States, there is a similar culture of impunity when young American girls are sold for sex. There are 100,000 to 300,000 children between 11 and 14 who are vulnerable to being sold for sex by pimp-captors every year in the United States, according to government statistics.

Launch of New Website

We are proud to announce the launch of our new website! Browse our updated site and you'll find new features that keep you more informed and connected with RedLight Children and our campaign to fight sex trafficking.

Our website now features a social media toolbar which allows us to engage with our supporters while keeping you up to date on the latest news, quick facts, clips and photos through Facebook, YouTube, Flickr and Twitter.

We hope you'll check out our Website and find new ways to get involved!

Civil Litigation Pilot Project

RedLight Children is currently developing and deploying a Civil Litigation Pilot Project that targets the demand side of child sexual exploitation by suing to recover civil damages from consumers of child sexual services.

Public exposure of current customers of child sex slaves and potentially heavy monetary damages will raise the costs of future customers and significantly decrease demand. The pilot project will be replicated across the United States to other law firms as we strive to eradicate child sexual exploitation. Please stay tuned for more information about this new initiative throughout the year.

Upcoming Screenings of "REDLIGHT" at the Bellingham Human Rights Film Festival

On Feb. 17-26, the Bellingham Human Rights Film Festival (BHRFF) will mark its 11th year by presenting films that document worldwide human rights concerns and efforts to promote positive change. Among the films that will featured during the festival, is our latest documentary about child sex trafficking in Cambodia, REDLIGHT.

BHRFF runs from Feb. 17-26; venues include the Fairhaven College Auditorium at Western Washington University, the Pickford Theater, and local high schools. To see a full list of screenings and details on when the REDLIGHT screenings will be held, please visit <http://bhrff.webs.com/>.

Night of Entertainment Event Recap

On December 15th, RedLight Children hosted "A Night of Entertainment" a casino themed evening with a poker tournament and mini blackjack and roulette tournaments at Amnesia Nightclub in New York City in which 100% of the proceeds went to benefit RedLight Children.

4 time World Series of Poker Champion, Tom McEvoy; professional poker player, Beth Shak; actress/supermodel and host of ABC's "Good Samaritans" Amy Weber; and Project Runway's Celebrity Hairstylist,

George Ortiz were among the many celebrity guests who attended the event. The event was a successful night of fun-filled excitement. Thank you again for your support as we raised much needed funds for RedLight Children! Check out photos from the event.
